Aim: How can we run python programs directly from the shell?

In order to run python programs directly from the shell we ned to:

1. Make sure the file is executable (set correct file permissions).
2. Tell the file where to find python.
3. Tell the shell it’s ok to run our program.

Aim: How can we run python programs directly from the shell?